Your Teachers

Damo-T from Salsa Rebels will be your host and teacher on this Salsa weekend alongside special guest teachers. Watch this space for the full line-up!

Damo T, real name Damian Travers Welch-Bobko, is a salsa teacher and performer from Somerset. His love for salsa began when he was just a child as salsa and Latin music ran in his family. Inspired by his father, a former WSC finalist and competitor and a current UK Tango teacher, Damo T took to dancing and learning salsa to follow the family legacy. As he lived in Portugal until his late teens he was brought up in the Latin world and that is where he started to really find his love for salsa.

After many years of studying musicology and style he then started to compete across Europe at a regional level. In 2006-2007 he won the Amateur regional heats in the Savoie region of France and the Amateur Portuguese Championships in 2005.

Damo's reputation rapidly grew and he has taught and performed across the UK and Europe and he was also nominated for best regional teacher in the south west. He is currently on tour with his show "Cula Caliente" which has received great reviews and has led to him being booked for some of the biggest congresses across the UK and Europe including The Essex Latin Festival and beyond.

Damo T brings a unique style to salsa with his upbeat yet very technical way of teaching and specializes in Cuban and Cross body (LA). His ability to make people laugh and smile during a lesson really relaxes the way students can learn. As for shows he and his partner bring a unique yet entertaining show to all. "I feel that when a show is born I would really like to entertain people as I would like to be entertained, that is why it is important to enjoy every moment of it as a performer or a spectator".

Damo T is also a UKA, UKE and IDU affiliated dancer.
