Your Destination, includes sightseeing

Nerja is a haven beach town placed on the Costa del Sol lying between small coves untouched by development and surrounded by an impressive mountain scenery. It is located just fifty kilometres from Málaga and is one and a half hour drive from Granada. There are thirteen kilometres of beaches and the small coves below the impressive cliffs of Maro, which have been the inspiration of numerous artists who have set up residence here. With its mild climate, you can enjoy yourself to the full all year round and take advantage of the relaxed way of life of a town that still retains much of the character of its moorish past. The historic centre begins with the Balcón de Europa (Balcony of Europe) which is a fantastic view point out to sea. In the old quarter of town, you can enjoy many small shops and boutiques offering local craftwork (including the sweet wine and olive oil, honey and tropical fruits) and the latest Spanish fashion. At the beach restaurants you can enjoy the "pescaito frito" (fried fish), the best Sangria and excellent tapas. There is in addition in the town centre an excellent selection of Indian, Chinese, Japanese and Italian restaurants. One of the reasons that Nerja is so famous is because of its caves which hold stalactites and stalagmites formed over millions of years. The Nerja Caves are currently the third most visited monument in the whole of Spain.

Nightlife

During your week in Nerja you will enjoy fabulous flamenco shows, flamenco guitar recitals and some spontaneous flamenco dancing of our own. In addition to the flamenco shows and dancing, we will also spend our evenings dining out at great restaurants and tapas bars.

Your Teachers	Lola Tapia Mendez will be your teacher for your Flamenco courses. Lola is local to Malaga. In addition to teaching she has her own Flamenco troupe. Lola has worked with us on several holidays before and we have had very good feedback. In addition to being charming, she also has excellent teaching technique and will push each of you individually to your personal best.
Food and Meals	Andalusian & international cuisine: Nerja offers many cosy, family-run restaurants offering traditional Andalusian dishes. You will also find restaurants offering other types of international cuisine: Italian, Chinese, Indian and more. Tapas/Raciones culture: Tapas bars are an intrinsic part of Andalusian culture. 'Tapa' translates as 'lid'. The idea is that you keep you hunger in check by eating small plates of food. With each drink that you order, you order a 'tapa' that comes free with your drink. In most tapas bars you don't sit down. Rather, you stand or sit on stools at the bar. In tapas bars and in many restaurants you can also order 'raciones'. A ración is a plate of one type of dish (either meat or fish or salad etcetera). The idea is for a group of people to order a 'ración' each and for the group to then share the dishes between themselves. It's a great way to be able to try different dishes! If you would prefer to eat a sit down three course meal, we suggest that you eat at a restaurant with a set menu.

Getting Around: You are responsible for making your own way to the dance classes and meeting points on the itinerary. You can cover the town centre easily by foot. It is a joy to walk everywhere as the town is bursting with atmosphere. In fact getting lost would be an enjoyable part of the holiday! The Alhambra is located on one hill and the Sacromonte area and the Albaicin on another – these have fantastic views. Where hills are concerned you may at times prefer to get a taxi.

Before Your Go Books on Andalusia and Spain: It may be worth your while reading up on your destination before you go. Penelope Casas writes beautifully about Spain, in 'The Blue Guide' or 'The Foods and Wines of Spain'. Ian Gibson's 'The Fire in the Blood' provides one of the most fascinating insights into Spanish Culture. Gerald Brenan's 'South from Granada' and Ian Gibson's 'Lorca's Granada' give an insight into local history and culture. 'The Rough Guide to Andalusia' is the best guide book. 'Tales from the Alhambra' by Washington Irving is worth buying and makes a nice present; it can easily be bought locally.

Essential equipment and clothing to bring

Useful Things to Bring:

- | Camera
- | Shoes suitable for spending a long time walking around the streets
- | Dance shoes
- | Spring clothing for day
- | Warm coat for evenings
- | Swimming costume for Arabic Baths (op extra)
- | This fact sheet and Joining Instructions
- | Passport, money, plane ticket

What to wear for dancing: You don't necessarily need special flamenco shoes or clothes for the classes (the nails in flamenco shoes are for gripping the floor and being able to spin, not for making the noise). Shoes that have a court heel or a boot heel would be appropriate. Trainers would not be appropriate. You can buy flamenco shoes once you are out in Spain for around 30 - 50 euros. Wear clothes that are cool and comfortable – long flowing skirt with lots of material or leggings and tshirt. Some of you may wish to dress up in the Fiesta as the locals do in traditional flamenco costume. It will be possible to buy these flamenco clothes and accessories in Granada.

At Your Destination

Banks and Money: The easiest way to obtain euros is by using a credit card at one of the numerous cash points. You can buy small amounts, as often as you like, at any time, without queuing. You will need to know your P.I.N. Cash points are very easy to use. Bank opening hours are normally 9.00 a.m. to 2.00 p.m. Banks will change cash, travellers cheques and will sell you currency on your credit card providing the lines to Britain are open. You will always need to show your passport at a bank.

Tipping is generally less common in Spain than in Britain. There is no need to tip taxis but it is usual to leave a 5 - 10% tip at a restaurant if you are particularly pleased with your dinner/lunch.

We feel our tour hosts work hard to give you an exceptional holiday and sometimes you may find that they add some special touches which are beyond the call of duty. If you agree with us, you might wish to show your appreciation by way of a tip. You can do this by putting money in an envelope on your own or by getting together with other guests. This evidently is entirely at your discretion.

Making friends with the Locals and people not on the holiday: Unfortunately we cannot allow people not booked on our Dance Holiday to join in on any of the organised activities and we ask for your discretion in this respect. However we can offer a flight exclusive package for people already in Spain, thus enabling them to stay with the group and join in all activities and lessons. Please see www.clubdanceholidays.com or contact our UK Reservations Team (+44 870 286 6000) for details.
